

Event Registration for NPY Open

Event registration for National Pathology Year 2012 is now open!

National Pathology Year is just 6 weeks away, so it is time to start planning and registering your events. Why not try linking your event to one of the themes for national pathology year, using an existing event idea or trying something new! You can register your events online via the events section of the website.

Once you have registered your event it will be displayed on the website by region and by month, allowing everyone to see what is happening where and when and get involved. You will also shortly be able to request promotional materials for your events via the website.

The official launch of National Pathology Year will take place on Thursday 12th January and will be hosted by Dr Suzy Lishman, Lead for National Pathology Year. Until then we look forward to receiving your event registrations and hope you will help us get National Pathology Year off to a flying start!

Our Events

- NPY Event Registration Form
- Events by Month
- Events by location
- Promotional Materials Request Form
- Pathology in Focus: Photography Competition